DISASTROUS FIRE

G. H. Greeley's Large Frame Building in Ashes.

G. H. Greeley's fine frame building. on Twenty-second street, between Washington avenue and Walnut street, is now in ashes and ruins. Thursday night, after our paper had gone to press, the alarm of fire sounded. The firemen responded promptly to the call, but before they reached the scene of the conflagration the building was so far under the influence of the flames that it could not be saved. A strong wind commenced blowing, preceding the present cold snap, and fanned the flames into intense heat. It is believed the fire originated by the explosion of a coal oil lamp. That seems to be the general opinion. When the fire was discovered, Mr. Greeley and his wife were asleep in the second story-a perilous position-as the building fast filled with a deuse and suffocating smoke, rendering escape very difficult. The house was elegantly finished, besides having all necessary appliances for use and comfort. Only a portion of the furniture was saved, with a small amount of wearing apparel. Insurance on the building will reach $4,000; and on furniture, $3,000, making a total insurance of $7,000. When we consider that Mr.

Greeley's house was one of the best frames in Cairo, and the furniture rich and sumptious, this amount will be far from saving him from loss.

Fred. Hotheluz, proprietor of "Our Saloon," on Eighth street, opposite the Grand Central Hotel, will spread a grand lunch Sunday morning, consisting of the following bill of fare: Roast beef, veal, mutton, tongue, potato pancakes, crabs. and all kinds of vegetables. Fresh Milwaukee beer on tap. Don't forget to go and partake of the good things-between 9 and 10 o'clock. 9-18-2t

Winter Weather.

Yesterday was a cold, blustering day, and blasing fires were in demand all over the city. Occasionally a train of wild geese, noisy fellows, coursed their way southward, hunting the warm atmosphere of the low lands and lagoons of Florida, Louisiana and Texas, We like cool, bracing days, but despise to feel that one has crept in by stealth-and in the night time. When the Fall senson comes, and a dull sky is over head, and the leaves of the cotton trees dally with each other, and a chilly gale lifts our yenerable coat tall, as we turn a corner, we are reminded that Christmas, hot rum punches, and turkey lunch are not far distant, and that the grand jury, the pet of all well-regulated publics, has about adjourned.

Our Local Editor

Can Bouton tell us what has become of our local editor? It is a matter of importance to us. He is a rare and radiant youth, who can't go back on horse-flesh fairs, or good looking girls. This last is the most serious attack of staying away when duty calls that we have known him to indulge in. Something unusual has certainly taken place. Perhaps he's showing Tom Matthews some fine points about that pacing horse, or George Dougherty is attempting to convince him that he wrote "granger blossoms" instead of "orange blossoms." On Thursday evening he bade us an affectionate good by. skimmed over our arabesque carpet, asked us what we thought of the cut of his coat and trowsers, and lett for Jones boro. The lastest advices from him were that he was at the grand ball given at Jonesboro, and managed to dance in every set, when most of the other boys from the Taylor Literary Club had to take rear seats owing to the numerous crowd of males in attendance. He is capable of doing these things, and can dance as fine a clog or jig as any youth his age or size in Illinois. But we are even with him. In his absence we traded off his yellow, white faced horse, for a speckled Texas pony, that has a brand on his left hip resembling the map of Mexico. If you see him, Bouton, send him bome.

During the past year the bank of the river in the bend about a mile from the cross levee has been caving in, and the river getting closer every day to the track of the Cairo & St. Louis railroad. Col. Taylor some time ago called the attention of Mr. Canda, the manager of the road, to the encroachments of the river and advised him to take immediate steps to turn the river towards the Missouri shore. The employes of the road in the city advised Mr. Canda that there was no necessity for the advised precautions to be taken, and the company has permitted the encroachment of the river to go on. Yesterday mornseemed to be the mother of a child, and ing, shout fifty yards of the track fell with the caving bank into the river, and the business of the road has been interrupted. No trains went out or came in on yesterday. A construction train was brought down from some place up the line, and a force of hands were at work most of the day yesterday taking up the track and ties with the intention of running a track around the break. This work will be completed to-day or to-morrow, and trains will run as usual.

We have no doubt the railroad com pany will now lose no time in doing all it can to strengthen its embankment where the river approaches it. Rock can easily be procured by the company, and it will not cost much to make the track secure along the whole line of river front from about a half a mile above the break to the depot at the point.

General Home

-Most of the young men who went up to Jonesboro to attend the Fair dance, have returned. They look pale and interesting.

-The Blatz beer is becoming more popular every day. Mr. Lohr is the agent in this city of this favorite Milwaukee drink and is already driving a brisk trade in its sale.

-Fred, Koehler & Brother have concluded to open a meat store next week at the corner of Washington avenue and Eighth street. These popular butchers will deal in all kinds of meats, but make sausages, fresh and smoked, a specialty. -When the Sun called attention to a little item our young man published about the Mississippi levee, that paper got off a good one on us-retaliatory, you see. Indeed, we are inclined to believe it is becoming the "organ," and said what it was told to say. But the fact is, that in mentioning the levee we were saying nothing to the injury of the city. If we had no levees the city would be in no danger, the river being low. We don't cry, as the Sun man did, "the water is climbing up the levee; look out for the deluge!

-John II. Phillips, at the corner of Fourteenth street and Washington avenue, has for sale the largest stock of Teas in the city. They are of the very best quality and are sold at the lowest prices. We have tried his Golden Canister Tea and can recommend it as excellent, possessing great strength and flavor. Private families, boarding house keepers, proprietors of hotels and all leaf Teas are recommeded, if they wish a jury. to economize in the purchase of Teas, to go and examine Mr. Phillips' varied stock.

-The young man who presides over these columes made us go into ecstacies over the work of the grand jury. While we are inclined to applaud much that it did, we nevertheless believe it was wonderfully inquisitive and put its nose into too many matters. You see, when things are going on quietly-when the "gilded butterflies" are flying in undisturbed peace, and the boys are enjoying themselves, it is mean in a grand jury to rais a fuss and "stir things up." We had peace, and the grand jury has broken it. And yet our young man goes into ecstacies over its labors.

Auction of Real Estate. I will ofter for sale on Friday, October 1st, at two p. m. lot 6, in block 4, on the Ohio Levee, between Eighth and Tenth streets, with house and all improvement on same. The house is now renting for $35 per mouth. The property will be sold to the highest bidder. Terms of sale will be made known on day of sale. This is a good opportunity for any one wishing to purchase a good business house and lot. J. B. SELLA.

THE COUNTY JAIL.

Dan Hartman, Auctioneer.

Report of the Grand Jury Concerning

To the Honorable Circuit Court of Alexander County, State of Illinois: We the grand jury of the county of Alexander and State of Illinois, duly impanelled and sworn at the September term of the circuit court, A. D. 1875, would respectfully report that we have examined the county jail as the law directs We find no reason for censuring the jailor, as the prisoners unanimously testify to his kind treatment of them, and of his regard for their wants. They are properly fed and otherwise cared for, as well as the situation of the jail and its surroundings will allow. But we would respectfully, yet decidedly urge that the situation of the jail upon the ground floor of the court house is a very bad one indeed. The cells are about ten feet square, and ten feet high, and are necessarily so located as to prevent proper ventilation. They are also damp, and from the nature of the material of which the walls are constructed are infected with vermin which it is impossible to exterminate. The jail is often crowded, and at such times most of the cells have four or five prisoners in each. Thus huddling together of so many persons, of a class not usually careful as to personal cleanliness, within so small space, in a location naturally damp, and badly ventilated, necessarily produces a very offensive atmosphere especially injurious to the health of the prisoners, the family of the jailor and all habitues of the court house. In view of these facts which we believe tormer grand juries have testified to in their reports; we submit it as our honest judgment that our county jail is an unqualified nuisance which for the sake of humanity and common decency should be abated; and we earnestly hope that our county government may soon find means to crect a new and commodious building for jail purposes, adequate to the wants of the county. Grand Jury room, Sept. 16th, 1875,

JAS. E. McCRITE, Foreman.

"Portraits Glaces," This is a new style of piccure now be ng produced by Wm. Winter, the artist, of this city. These pictures are creating much interest in all the principal Eastern and Western cities, being altogether new. They are unlike photographs, being raised and beautifully enameled over the entire surface, soft in tone, but distinct in the lights and shades. No one who sees them falls to admire them, or to give the artist an order. We have been shown a number of pictures of well-known ladies and gentlemen of the city, and have no hesitation in pronouncing them perfectly splendid. We would therefore advise all who take interest in such matters or desire pictures, to call upon Mr. Winter at his gallery and examine his work in this new branch of the shadow-capturing art.

CRYSTAL SALGON. Harry Walker, the Old Reliable Sa-

The old and popular saloon keeper Harry Walker, will take charge of the well-known Crystal saloon, corner of Sixth street and Commercial avenue, on Wednesday morning, September 15th. Harry will excel his former efforts as a caterer to the public, and expects all his old and new friends to call around and examine what he will have on hand for the good of the inner man, in the shape of plain and mixed drinks, etc. All the ancients and moderns know what elegant and sumptuous lunches Harry used to set. Well, he proposes to equal, if not excel, his former efforts in that line, and will spread a famous one every morning. He will keep Pilsener beer in the best of order-cool and fresh. On Saturday night at 9 o'clock Harry will regale his visitors with "music by the band," and a lunch that will astonish fat and lean men-in fact all who may honor him with a call. Recollect it will be a folly affair-something like old times, as it were. Harry Walker will expest all hands on that corner for some time to come, as he is to be manager of the establishment.
